LOOK VARIATION:

“I wanted to create a more polished hairstyle, going from a bob to a sleek and strongly pulled back look. The idea was to create a modern version of the classical French pleat but giving it a more modern twist, creating a flat, tight shape. We used Volumizing Powder on the inside and the center to give more volume and applied some of the new Shaping Gel to pull the hair away from the face.”

LOOK VARIATION:

“I wanted to change the texture of the curls and create a more vintage look, so I twisted some of the details around the hairline, including the fringe, into the top. I left the rest of the hair with its natural texture, and I twisted it into flat curls, pinning it in different sections to create a lovely shape, leaving out the lengths in the front.”

RENAISSANCE REBEL

ANDY SMITH

WHAT IS THE BEST PART OF WORKING WITH INDOLA AS A HAIRDRESSER?

Firstly, it's the opportunity to collaborate with a fantastic global creative team that continuously inspires and challenges me to draw inspiration from various countries and geographical areas. I aim to strike the right balance by creating looks and styles that resonate across different cultural contexts.

WHICH LOOK WAS THE MOST CHALLENGING FOR YOU AS A HAIRSTYLIST?

I strive to keep every haircut simple and easy to understand, prioritizing education. It's essential to me that the cutting and styling techniques are easily replicable in daily salon life, without overwhelming clients. However, if I were to mention a particularly challenging style, it would be the victory rolls. Crafting them to achieve the perfect shape can be quite demanding.

Another point is the great balance between INDOLA's creative and commercial nature. Additionally, the quality of the care and styling products makes my life so much easier as a session stylist who needs to travel a lot. I feel that INDOLA is indeed the best choice for freelancers and hairdressers working in small boutique salons that require a smaller, yet complete, toolkit of high-quality products.

THE CREATORS

OUR COLOURISTS SHARE THE SECRETS BEHIND THE LOOKS

“The Epoch Elegance look is a variation of multidimensional colour. I used four different shades, ranging from warm browns to cooler tones, resulting in a perfect blend that embodies the modern Renaissance feel, centered around a muted brown colour.

The colour technique behind the Blush Romance look is really simple: I first lightened the base using BLONDE EXPERT Lightener. Then, I created a simple hair sectioning consisting of two triangles. I used two different BLONDE EXPERT shades, enhancing them with COLOR STYLE MOUSSE in Soft Mauve and Silver.”

PETER MARITY

INDOLA PROFESSIONAL HAIR COLOURIST AND EDUCATOR BASED IN HUNGARY

“The Vintage Verve look is like a veil, with all three shades that create the overall nuance hidden underneath. We created colour sections, both horizontal and vertical, scattered throughout, blending together seamlessly with no visible contrasts between them. The end result is a girly nuance that can't be easily defined.

ARI PALOJARVI

INDOLA PROFESSIONAL HAIR COLOURIST AND EDUCATOR BASED IN FINLAND

The colour technique for the Bronze Grace look involves creating three triangles, where the hair is bleached, and light is brought to the front. The colour triangles formed on the sides of the head are positioned in various directions. This results in the colour dropping more onto the lengths on one side of the head, while on the other side, the colour gathers mostly at the top, creating an interesting asymmetric effect.

For the Renaissance Rebel Look, the colour technique mainly involves applying CREA-MIX to slightly cool down the base colour and add more ash undertones. This creates a tougher yet romantic appearance for the model. By cooling down the base colour, the facial features appear stronger and more defined, and the hair frames the face.”

IOANNA AUSCHRA

WHICH LOOKS ARE YOUR FAVOURITES AND WHY?

I believe the Bronze Grace look was most strongly connected to the trend. It combines all the typical features of the Renaissance: natural materials like marble stone, hand-made elements such as lace, the historically long skirt, the transparent shoe adding a modern twist, and finally, the large jewelry pieces that traditionally represented the 'status' of the owner. I loved it!

HOW DOES THIS COLLECTION INSPIRE YOU AS A STYLIST, AND WHAT DID YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT IT?

This collection felt like a gift to me. Its theme resonated deeply with my interests as a fashion stylist and with the journey I've taken to get where I am today.

Having previously made historic costumes and worked for theaters, I found even greater enjoyment in this collection. The modern interpretation was the cherry on top.

COULD YOU TELL US A BIT MORE ABOUT THE COLOUR PALETTE OF THE COLLECTION?

This hair collection was inspiring to me because the hair colours were so natural yet rich. Brown, a colour I didn't previously appreciate in fashion, completely changed my perspective after seeing this collection.

Brown tones can be incredibly diverse, and I particularly love the rich light brown used in some of the fashion pieces. Recently, I bought myself a brown blazer, and before our collection, I didn't think the colour suited me. Thanks to this collection, I feel like a new person!
